FIRST HAND VIEW — CHS Principal Richard Snouffer (right), offers a comprehensive explanation of the school's report cards and record keeping systems during yesterday's E-B-I Day. Visitors toured all departments of the high school during the morning. In the afternoon they toured elementary schools within the city and received a first hand view of local education in action.

Once Around Roundtown

MEMBERS of the Circleville Junior Women's Club are prepping for a worthwhile project they will conduct Saturday in the downtown area. . .

They will be stationed at Court and Main Sts. where they will seek contributions for the CARE program. . . The Junior Women conducted a similar project last year. . .

Money collected will be used by CARE to promote its literacy program. . . The objective is to educate the illiterate of underdeveloped countries so their eyes may be opened to the evils of communism, and bring these persons closer to the democratic nations. . .

THE countryside for St. Patrick's Day yesterday may not have been too green — but it was sure wet. . . Yesterday's rainfall measured 1.07 inches. . .

With March more than half-way gone, there have been only four days during the month free of precipitation. . . The rain gauge for the month is 0.46 of an inch above the normal accumulation of 2.02 inches. . .

THE INTERNAL electrical power failure that gave General Electric plant workers an unexpected vacation yesterday was the cause of an electrical outage for most of the city south of Mound St. . .

E. G. Parsons, division manager for the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co., reported that water blew onto large current transformers, creating a short circuit at the GE plant. . .

The short, in turn, caused a main line circuit breaker to blow. . . Electricity was off for about 40 minutes. . .

Record Blow Recalled

CHICAGO (AP) — It was March 18, 1925, that the worst tornado in United States history swept through Missouri, Illinois, and Indiana, killing 689 persons, injuring 2,000 and leaving more than $16 million in property damage. . .

LBJ's Old Texas School Remains As in 1928--a Poverty Pocket

COTULLA, Tex. (AP) — The little red brick grade school where President Johnson taught 37 years ago is still about like he remembers it, a graphic picture of poverty. . .

Many of its 287 pupils — all Latin Americans — are poor, and often hungry. . .

The playground is still dusty. The same janitor cleans the eight classrooms. . .

"My students were poor, and often hungry," the President recalled in a speech to Congress Monday night. "And they knew even in their youth the pain of prejudice." . .

He talked of his year as a teacher in the Welhausen Elementary School. It was his

School Systems Hosts for Many EBI Day Visitors

The spotlight was on education yesterday in Circleville and Pickaway County. . .

More than 200 persons associated with area business and industry received a first hand look at education operations on the local level. Hosts for the special Education-Business-Industry Day observance were the Circleville, Logan Elm, Westfall and Teays Valley School Districts. . .

Personnel taking part in the day-long activities rated the Area Chamber of Commerce project as an interesting and successful undertaking. . .

Each school district prepared and conducted its own program. Visitation was made to both

Dayton Gun Spree Takes Second Life

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — A shooting in a Dayton tavern Monday night claimed the life of a second victim today while police continued to hunt for a killer described as "armed and dangerous." . .

Miss Ruth Sherman, 43, a waitress in a bar, died of wounds in Miami Valley Hospital. . .

Carl Bartee, 38, of New Carlisle, a patron in the bar, was killed outright. A third victim of the shooting, Roland Lodwick, 28, Bartee's nephew, remains in poor condition in the hospital. . .

Lt. R. E. Swartz, said a warrant charging first-degree murder had been filed against Cleo Vernon Keaton, 27. Prior to Miss Sherman's death, warrants had also been filed against Keaton charging him with two counts of shooting with intent to kill. Lt. Swartz said police officials are consulting with the prosecutor's office about filing a second count of murder against Keaton. . .

high school and elementary buildings. . .

THE VARIOUS programs included detailed observance of teaching methods and the latest facilities available for student instruction. . .

The many factors necessary to operate school systems were outlined during the day by administrators and teachers. This included finances, routine maintenance, periodic expansion and acquisition of modern facilities. . .

Actual visits to classrooms were a key phase throughout the day. Study programs were outlined by the host teachers. . .

Yesterday's event represented the second phase of the Area Chamber's program to emphasize the close relationship between business, industry and education. The project was launched with last year's Business - Industry - Education Day in which city - county teachers visited local business, industry and professional firms. . .

The third phase of the three-year cycle will be completed in 1966 when senior high school students visit area business and industry establishments. . .

Providing the initial planning for yesterday's program was the Chamber's Education Committee, chaired by Alden D. Bray. The panel worked closely with city and county school superintendents Fritz Jacobs and George McDowell and principals and executive heads in the four school districts. . .

Ex-Senator Returns To Capitol as Aide

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Former Michigan State Sen. Patrick Walsh is returning to the State Capitol, but this time as a $2-an-hour night watchman. . .

Walsh, 73, and slowed by arthritis, served six years as a Democrat from Detroit's old Fourth District. . .

Walsh will be paid about $80 a week. . .

ever, that discrimination "is a thing of the past in Cotulla." . .

There are no Negroes in school here. . .

Tomas Coronado, 67, the janitor, is the only employee of the Welhausen school who was here when Johnson was on the faculty. The few words of English he speaks Coronado said he owes to Johnson. . .

"He taught me the ABC's in his spare time," the janitor said through an interpreter. "We'd get in the classroom after school. Mr. Johnson used a Spanish-English dictionary." . .

When Johnson came to the school in the fall of 1928, he didn't speak Spanish, almost a prerequisite in those days, Coronado said by the year's end

Federal Judge Rules in Favor Of Rightists

Alabama's Police Ordered To Give March Protection

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Civil rights workers were heartened today by a federal judge's sanction of a 50-mile march from Selma to Montgomery and by establishment of ground rules for parades and demonstrations in the Alabama capital. . .

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. rejoiced over the court order requiring state police to protect demonstrators instead of interfering with them. He promised a decision during the day on when the pilgrimage will start. . .

"We look forward to seeing the governor comply with the court order," said King. . .

The Negro integration leader also said he hoped Gov. George C. Wallace would "see a delegation of people from all over the state when we arrive in Montgomery" at the end of the march. Wallace did not comment. . .

King and other civil rights leaders joined Montgomery city and county representatives in signing an agreement declaring that "parade permits for peaceful demonstrations should be applied for and granted." . .

While that meeting was in progress, Willie Ricks, a Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee field worker told a church gathering that 2,000 Tuskegee Institute students planned a march in Montgomery today "to call on George Wallace." . .

Tornado Hits Springfield Housing Area

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"I just held tight and prayed," said Raymond Yoakem of the "baby tornado" which whipped through Springfield's southeast section late Wednesday, uprooting trees, ripping roofs and turning over a trailer. . .

Yoakem said he was seated in his car in his driveway when the black funnel cloud hit, picking up a big maple tree and depositing it near the car. . .

Springfield felt its hardest punch from Wednesday's weather during a heavy downpour similar to those that struck many Ohio cities. . .

The Greater Cleveland area was rocked by wind gusts of up to 75 miles an hour. The wind knocked out electric power to more than 3,000 homes. . .

At Cleveland Hopkins Airport, a light plane was flipped over by a wind gust. . .

Another small plane was upset at Port Columbus Airport in Columbus, where winds were closed as strong as 38 m.p.h. . .

The weather forecast for today and Friday, the last two days of winter, calls for high temperatures in the 30s. Tonight's temperatures may go as low as the teens. . .

Plant Due To Reopen

RAVENNA, Ohio (AP) — The Flintkote Co.'s asbestos-cement plant, which shut down March 8 for unexplained reasons, will open Monday, according to a management-union statement. . .

Aerial Photos Guide Bombers

U.S. Gets Index On Red Targets

WASHINGTON (AP) — Months of careful photo reconnaissance of Communist North Viet Nam by Air Force and Navy have given U.S. officials detailed knowledge of all targets worth hitting there, sources said today. . .

There is official silence here about aerial scouting operations over Red North Viet Nam. . .

The North Vietnamese and the Communist Chinese have not complained openly about these activities. . .

It is known that Air Force RF101 Voodoo jets have flown over North Viet Nam at both high and low altitudes, their highspeed cameras taking thousands of pictures. . .

They have collected shots of troop barracks and training centers, ammunition and fuel dumps, gun positions, roads, railroads, airfields, power in stations, industrial complexes and the like. . .

Navy F8 Crusaders and RA5C Vigilantes have taken off from U.S. carriers in the South China Sea to range along the North Vietnamese coast photographing port facilities, torpedo boat bases and other potential targets. . .

Pictures brought back for study by skilled photo interpreters have included possible targets in the Hanoi area and the main port of Haiphong. . .

U.S. reconnaissance planes are equipped with sensitive color and black and white film that can reveal camouflage, infrared film of piercing darkness, and electronic sensors able to detect warning radar or gunpointing radar. . .

Their automatic cameras can take panoramic views or de-tailed pictures of limited areas. . .

Aircraft can take clear shots from 30,000 feet aloft and higher or from close to the ground at 400 miles an hour or faster. . .

Racial Fuss Shuts School In Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP) — Fist fights broke out today among pupils at Collinwood High school over what officials said was a racial situation and classes were called off as tension increased. . .

Scores of policemen—mounted and in cruisers—moved in before school opened to quell the trouble and prevent further outbreaks. They also sought to get an estimated 650 persons—mostly white students—to go home. The crowd had gathered across the street from the integrated high school on the East Side. . .

Several fight and minor scuffling occurred between 8 and 8:30 a.m., but nothing serious. Alva R. Dittick, deputy school superintendent, said the tensions between Negro and white pupils was growing so the school was closed. There are 3,200 enrolled at the school. . .

He said the trouble stemmed from a dance at a YMCA over the weekend which was attended mostly by Negroes. White pupils apparently felt that if they weren't allowed to use the Y for social activities because of the lousy season, then others shouldn't be able to either. . .

A fight occurred after that dance and the ill feeling spilled over into the classrooms the last few days, Dittick explained. . .

Gemini Shot Awaited

Step into Space Maneuver Eyed

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — When Lt. Col. Alexei Leonov stepped into the vastness of space, as announced by the Soviet news agency Tass today, he practiced one of four major techniques which still must be perfected before either a Soviet or an American ventures to the moon. . .

Tass said the feat occurred 90 minutes after Leonov hurtled into space with Col. Pavel Belyayev in the Voskhod 2 spacecraft. . .

If a man is to step onto the moon he must have a space suit and personal life support system capable of sustaining him and protecting him from the hostile elements of space — including fast-flying meteors and the extremes of heat and cold on the lunar surface. . .

The other three techniques which must be developed are a maneuverable spacecraft, sustaining man for long periods in space, and rendezvous and docking with other satellites. . .

The United States does not intend to expose an astronaut to the elements of space until late this year. Neither country has attempted the other three procedures. . .

All four are goals of the U.S. Gemini program, which is to set sail here next Tuesday with the three-orbit flight of astronauts Virgil I. Grissom and John W. Young. . .

Their "Gemini 3" capsule has been billed as the world's first maneuverable spacecraft, and it will be unless Voskhod 2 can change its course. There was no evidence that it had done so in the early portion of flight. . .

There was no immediate official comment from the astronauts or flight controllers on the latest Soviet feat. . .

A National Aeronautics and Space Administration spokesman said any initial comment would have to come from officials in Washington after the flight had been assessed. . .

However, officials contacted said unofficially the flight showed the United States still trails the Soviets by at least two years in the man-in-space race. . .

They said it might prove embarrassing if Voskhod 2 still is in orbit next week when Grissom and Young take off on their relatively brief flight. . .

House Hearings Speeded On Voting Rights Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House, moving swiftly, opens hearings today on a strong voting rights bill. . .

Less than 24 hours after President Johnson sent the bill to Capitol Hill, Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach was to go before the House Judiciary Committee to explain its sweeping provisions. . .

Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., in moving the hearings up from their scheduled opening next week, said "the continuing shameful and tragic events in Alabama" make speedy action essential. . .

Long and careful preparation of the bill by the Justice Department and congressional leaders of both parties appears to have smoothed the way for passage. . .

In a letter accompanying the bill, Johnson asked the Senate and House to make sure "no voting qualification or procedure shall be imposed or applied to deny or abridge the right to vote on account of race or color." . .

The bill is intended to enforce the 15th Amendment, which guarantees that no citizen shall be denied the right to vote because of race or color. In his message Monday night, Johnson said the amendment is "being systematically and willfully circumvented" in certain states and areas. . .

There are four main provisions by which the bill seeks to make it possible for Negroes to vote in all elections — federal, state and local. . .

They would: Eliminate literacy tests or any other "test or device" as a means of denying anyone the right to vote in a state or county where less than 50 per cent of the persons of voting age are registered or voting. . .

New Zealander Lauds U.S. Move

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Sir Leslie Knox Munro of New Zealand, former United Nations General Assembly president, said Tuesday that removal of American forces from South Viet Nam is unthinkable. . .

Munro, now a member of the New Zealand House of Representatives, spoke to a student assembly at Washington University. . .

"Imagine what would happen if South Viet Nam fell to aggression from North Viet Nam," Munro said. "If South Viet Nam goes, Thailand will be next on the list, then Malaysia, and we in Australia and New Zealand would be in trouble too." . .

10-Minute 'First' Claimed

2 Soviet Spacemen Are Reported OK

MOSCOW (AP) — A Soviet rocket hurled two cosmonauts today into man's highest orbit and one of them spent 10 minutes outside the space ship. . .

Tass, the Soviet news agency, said he was "in condition of outer space" for 20 minutes, "including 10 minutes outside the ship." This indicated he spent 10 minutes in an airless chamber attached to the pressurized main cabin before going outside. . .

There were indications that the new space venture was intended as another step toward a trip to the moon by experimenting with the techniques needed to join space ships together. . .

Tass, the Soviet news agency, said Lt. Col. Alexei Leonov, 30, copilot of the space ship called Voskhod 2, went 16 feet from the space capsule. He appeared to be attached to the ship by a lifeline. . .

Soviet television stations showed a film of Leonov floating outside the space ship, with the curve of the earth and the blackness of space visible in the background. . .

Leonov wore what was described as a special "autonomous life-support suit." On television, the suit appeared bulky. . .

With him in Voskhod 2 was Col. Pavel Belyayev, 39, the flight commander. Tass said a powerful rocket sent them into orbit at 10 a.m. (2 a.m. Eastern Standard Time) and Leonov stepped from the capsule 90 minutes later, at the end of the ship's first orbit of the earth. . .

"He successfully carried out the range of prescribed studies and observations and safely returned to the ship. Outside the ship and after returning to the ship, Leonov feels well," Tass said. . .

"Leonov's emergence into outer space, his work outside the ship and return to the ship were transmitted to the earth by means of the ship's television system and observed by a network of ground stations," Tass reported. . .

Moscow television showed a film of Leonov floating next to the spacecraft, apparently attached to it by a line to prevent his floating away. . .

He was wearing a bulky suit and heavy helmet. What looked like cylinders of oxygen were on his back. . .

The cosmonaut did somersaults in space and floated in a loose, relaxed-appearing manner of weightlessness. . .

Dixiecrat's Honor Affair Is Diluted

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., received an honorary law degree in a hotel room Wednesday after a civil rights demonstration at Oklahoma City University had resulted in cancellation of his scheduled campus appearance. . .

The civil rights objected to the degree conferred on the Southern senator because he had threatened to filibuster against President Johnson's voting-rights bill. . .

Dr. John F. Olson, university president, called off a convocation after pickets had appeared and distributed pamphlets. . .

Eskimo Landers Buy Air-Conditioning Unit

NOME, Alaska (AP) — Robert Giersdorf, vice president of Alaska Airlines, has heard all the old cracks about selling refrigerators to Eskimos. . .

So he did a doubletake Wednesday when checking supplies being requisitioned by King Island villagers. . .

There it was in big, black print — an air-conditioning unit for the village community hall. . .

King Island is in the heart of Eskimo land, less than a hundred yards from the shores of the Bering Sea. . .

News of World in Brief

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Franklin County's health commissioner has ordered a suburban Columbus church school kindergarten closed because of a reported case of meningitis.

Dahl Pattillo, 5, a pupil in the Faith Lutheran Church Kindergarten, is in poor condition in Children's Hospital, suffering from the disease. He became ill in class Tuesday.

Health Commissioner Dr. Ralph D. Lach ordered the kindergarten closed Wednesday and said everyone who had contact with the stricken boy should report for preventive sulfa drugs at a clinic set up at Whitehall's municipal building.

NEW YORK (AP) — Funeral services will be conducted Friday for Quentin Reynolds, 62, the war correspondent and author.

Reynolds died Wednesday at Travis Air Force Base, Calif., of cancer. He became ill while on a writing assignment in the Philippines and was flown back to the United States by military plane.

A New York newspaperman and foreign correspondent before World War II, Reynolds gained wide recognition for his reporting from the war zone. He wrote primarily for Collier's magazine.

LONDON (AP) — Britain and the Soviet Union have failed in secret diplomatic exchanges to agree on joint action to halt the Viet Nam war, the British Foreign Office disclosed today.

Releasing draft messages proposed by each government, the Foreign Office said the exchange was undertaken as part of Britain's attempt to seek a basis on which negotiations might be initiated.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has again ruled against giving the justices of the Supreme Court the same size pay boost given members of Congress.

All other federal judges, top executive officials and Congress, itself, got $7,500 pay raises last year, but the court's were limited to $4,500 by action of the Senate.

A bill to give the justices the remaining $3,000 was brought up in the House Tuesday. It was defeated 203 to 177.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A sit down by students in front of the White House ended Wednesday night when news came that two peaceful civil rights demonstrations had taken place in Alabama.

The students, whites and Negroes from colleges and universities in the East and Midwest, had been on the sidewalk at the executive mansion since midafternoon. At one point, 300 participated but by 8 p. m. only 125 were left.

oments on the racial scene:

1. President Johnson sent his voting-rights bill to Congress and said it would "help rid the nation of racial discrimination" at the ballot box.

2. Selma police arrested 36 white ministers — two of them women — as they approached Mayor Joseph T. Smitherman's house with picket signs. They headed toward the mayor's red brick house after marching on the Dallas County Courthouse with about 700 others. The ministers were charged with parading without a permit and bond set at $200 each.

3. In Washington, Rep. John Bell Williams, D-Miss., told the House he considered King "the most dangerous man in America" and a "godless individual who is not interested in religion." King received the 1964 Nobel Peace Prize and is co-pastor with his father of an Atlanta Baptist Church.

4. About 300 students, mostly white, staged a sit-down-in-slush at the front gate of the White House. The gathering was called by the SNCC.

In Alabama, aides to Wallace were completing arrangements for the governor to address the Legislature tonight. It is in special session to consider a multimillion dollar new school program.

The preparations began Wednesday night after U.S. District Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr. handed down a lengthy decree saying Negroes demanding equal rights and protesting alleged police brutality could march the 50 miles from Selma to Montgomery.

One of the attempted marches, on Sunday, March 7, ended in a bloody encounter with police swinging troopers who finally broke up the procession with tear gas.

The judge's decision was announced while hundreds of Negroes stood in the rain outside the Montgomery Courthouse protesting the action of mounted deputies who clubbed white and Negro demonstrators Tuesday.

The announcement turned the demonstration into a victory rally.

President Johnson applauded the court decision and said "justice has spoken." He urged the people to "respond fairly in accordance with our traditional reliance upon law and order."

The judge ruled on a petition of civil rights leaders after the March 7 march was broken up.

Draft Board Sends 24 Men for Exams

LINKED TO TORO Case

CINCINNATI (AP)—Police today were investigating the possibility that a torso found on the Ohio River banks Feb. 28 may be that of Beny Ray Closs, 43, of Hamilton.

LA. Harold Carpenter of the Hamilton Police said Closs was last seen Feb. 6 and was then carrying $400 to $700 "vacation money." Sgt. Russell Jackson, chief of the Cincinnati homicide squad, said both Closs and the dead man were of slender build.

Exiled Ex-King Farouk Dies at Age 45 in Rome

ROME (AP) — Ex-King Farouk of Egypt, the fat, fun-loving playboy exiled by military revolution in 1952, collapsed in a Rome restaurant early today and died on the way to a hospital. He was 45.

A doctor tried to stimulate Farouk's failing heart with injections and oxygen, but he died as the ambulance pulled up at the gate of Rome's San Camillo Hospital.

He had been one of the more colorful kings of modern times, a lusty bon vivant who spent fortunes on pleasure when he wore the crown in a land of poverty.

The revolution that threw him out after 15 years eventually brought Gamel Abdel Nasser to power. Farouk left Egypt aboard the white and gilt royal yacht "Mahroussa," but he had to return it to the revolutionary government.

Farouk was dining after midnight with a woman at a plush French restaurant on the edge of Rome. He had just finished a rich meal of oysters, roast lamb, cake and fruit when he pitched forward on the table.

At the hospital, attendants found on his person a 6.35-caliber Italian automatic pistol and a pair of the dark sunglasses that he habitually wore. On his finger was a gold wedding ring and in his wallet $7,000 lire ($155).

Farouk was married twice. His first marriage to Farida Zulfikar was dissolved in 1948 after she bore him three daughters but no sons. Only males could succeed to Moslem Egypt's throne.

In 1951 Farouk married Nariman Sadek 19, the daughter of an Egyptian civil servant. He had seen her first in a jewelry store when she was shopping for a wedding ring with her fiancé, Zaki Hashem, an Egyptian employee at the United Nations.

Queen Nariman in January 1952 bore a son who was proclaimed King Fuad II six months later after his father abdicated. Farouk took the baby into exile with him, and the monarchy ended a year later when Egypt became a republic.

There were reports that his fortune, once estimated at $50 million, had dropped to about $2 million, providing him an income of about $3,500 a month.

Farouk's four children — Princess Fadia, 21, Fawzia, 24, and Ferial, 26, and Prince Fuad, 13 — live in Switzerland.

Amanda Man Injured in Auto Mishap

William C. Cromley, 79, Amanda, was admitted to Mercy Hospital, Columbus, late last night following an automobile accident on the South Bloomfield-Royalton Road eight miles northeast of Circleville.

Cromley sustained several facial lacerations and a fractured cheek bone in the mishap according to the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department.

Cromley told investigating officer Homer Adams, he was blinded by the headlights of an approaching car, pulled to the side of the road and went into a ditch, striking a utility pole.

He is survived by his widow, Peggy Dollison Iles; a son Gary; two daughters, Brenda and Debby, all of the home; two brothers, George W. Iles, Pasadena, Calif., and Charles D. Iles, 350 Logan St.; three sisters, Mrs. Hazel Cline, Mrs. Dorothy B. Root and Mrs. Florence Wise, all of Circleville.

Arrangements are to be completed by the Defenbaugh Funeral Home.

MRS. GOLDA H. MEYERS

Mrs. Golda H. Meyers, Route 1, Stoutsville, died unexpectedly 8:30 a. m. today in Berger Hospital.

Surviving are her husband, George R., Route 1, Stoutsville; two sons, George M., Route 4; Donald E., 107 Collins Court; one daughter, Mrs. Joseph R. Mile, Westchester, Ill.; three grandchildren.

Arrangements are being completed by the Defenbaugh Funeral Home.

Suit Is Filed For Annulment

A marriage annulment suit has been filed in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court.

Anna M. Blevins Johnson, represented by Allan Berger, is asking the court that her marriage to Cecil Johnson, Route 1, Chillicothe, be voided and her maiden name be restored.

The petition stated that she and Johnson were granted a marriage license in Pickaway County on Nov. 17, 1964 and that they were "married Nov. 17, 1964." The plaintiff claims that Johnson had a living wife at the time they were married and that this fact was unknown to her until Feb. 27, 1965.

Man Hospitalized

Paul Pfaff, 60, Route 2, Ashville, was rushed to St. Anthony's Hospital, Columbus last night. Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff Homer Adams said Pfaff apparently slashed his own wrists with a butcher knife.

Effort Continues To Hike Patient Census at Berger

Additional steps designed to increase the patient census was one of the key topics last night when Berger Hospital's Board of Governors - Commissioners met in regular session.

Ways and means of hiking the patient occupancy from month-to-month came under considerable review. A suggestion that the finance committee seek recommendations and submit them to the board for official action was approved.

The percentage of occupancy for last month was listed at 56.25, a considerable drop from the 72.29 per cent attained in January. Board members agreed that renewed efforts will be made to encourage local residents to utilize Berger's facilities.

Additional agenda matters included a report that the hospital's second operating room was placed in service this week. This project has received extensive assistance from Berger's General Guild.

THE General Guild has launched a program to completely furnish the second operating facility as a continuation of its project.

Welcomed to last night's session was Mrs. Dorothy Ransom, president of the General Guild. A motion extending an invitation to the Guild head to attend monthly meetings was adopted last month by the board.

In other business, it was reported that $37,400 in Hill-Burton federal funds has been received. This represents the government's final disbursements in connection with construction of the new maternity wing at Berger.

The statistical report showed the hospital handled 195 admissions during February. The average daily adult census was 28.6. Births for the month numbered 34.

An additional breakdown of routine functions included: 25 emergency room visits; 64 in patient operations; six outpatient operations; 350 outpatient visits to lab and x-ray; 600 total outpatient visits; 83 total anesthetics.

Red Guerrilla Arsenal Built Up Rapidly

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Three years ago a Viet Cong guerrilla was lucky to own an old bolt-action French rifle. Today the same guerrilla probably owns an assortment of the finest jungle weapons made.

The Viet Cong still lack planes, tanks and trucks, but they have come a long way in building up their arsenal.

No longer are they a ragged peasant army with castoff and homemade weapons. The Red force fights in uniform and is supplied with the best. Last year the Viet Cong captured 13,700 American weapons from government forces.

But the new Viet Cong arsenal also includes the latest from the factories of Red China and the rest of the Communist bloc.

Among these weapons is a new Soviet-designed assault rifle. This weapon fires a 7.62mm cartridge intermediate in size between those used in heavy U.S. automatic rifles and light carbines. Used more or less as a long-range submachine gun, it is sturdy and reliable. American officers think it is as good or better than similar Western weapons.

A new Chinese Communist antitank rocket launcher is smaller and lighter than the American bazooka but works on much the same principle. It fires a heavy rocket shell capable of piercing 6 to 8 inches of armor and wrecking a bunker or blockhouse.

An accessory is a lightweight ammunition pack carrying two rockets and two propellant charges. The whole rig is suspended from a comfortable harness ideal for a guerrilla hiker.

Recoilless 57mm and 75mm cannons are in abundant supply. Their range is limited, but for close-in use they are at least as destructive as pack howitzers. They are easily portable.

In the past, the guerrilla have relied heavily on Chinese antiaircraft machine guns. Captured American 50-caliber machine guns are now adapted in jungle factories for the same purpose. The Chinese gun can easily bring down helicopters or planes from altitudes of several thousand feet.

Locally made Viet Cong arms have improved enormously from the days when the guerrillas made shotguns out of plumbing pipe.

Prexy Urges Education Be Taken in Small Bites

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Advice from the president of Yale University on how to digest an education?

Take smaller bites.

Several times since he took office last October as the 17th president of Yale, Kingman Brewster Jr. has hinted that he would like to do something about the treadmill aspect of acquiring an education.

"I think there ought to be more landings and detours along this escalator of academic achievement," he said in a recent interview.

What bothers Brewster is that formal education has become, for many young Americans, a nonstop process that goes on for 20 years. Small wonder some of the participants get a little weary along the way.

Brewster said he feels it might be sensible to "build in some discontinuity."

One way, he said, would be to make the conventional four-year program leading to a bachelor of arts degree five years instead. The student could have a year along the way to take a break if so inclined.

Another approach would be for students, immediately after completing high school or prep school, to spend one year in some worthwhile nonacademic activity.

"I think there's a kind of blind conformity to the expectation that you must go straight from school to college," Brewster said.

Brewster does not intend that young men should defer starting college just to spend a year lying on a beach. He wants this year off to be invested in stretching the mind.

"It could be a job," he said, "it could be travel, it could be domestic Peace Corps work."

So far, Brewster has not altered the undergraduate program at Yale to test his theories. The university still is what it was when Brewster, then 44, succeeded the late A. Whitney Griswold as president.

He actually had been running Yale for some time before the inauguration last April. When Griswold died in April 1963, Brewster already was provost, the university's chief educational officer.

Now that he is president, Brewster feels a little more heavily the weight that rests on the man who speaks for a university.

But in one respect, he said, presidents have it easier now than in the past. This advantage, he said, is the growing tendency to value brains.

Presbyterians Are Cautious Civil Rights Role Of Ministers Eyed

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Presbytery has urged its ministers to consider carefully any participation in non-violent civil rights demonstrations.

A statement issued by the Presbytery urged the ministers to weigh their personal decisions against the possible impact on their church and their effectiveness.

"The minister is subject to the Presbytery on the matter of how he fulfills his many responsibilities," the statement said. "Therefore, he should not take lightly the challenge to witness non-violently."

The Presbytery said it could not deny a minister permission to join in the civil rights struggle "without good reason or extraordinary cause." Even then, the minister could participate.

"Those who feel they must act independently of Session or presbytery should be prepared to accept the possible consequences or personal sacrifice," the statement said.

The Presbytery also urged members of individual churches to consult with their ministers before participating in civil rights demonstrations. It said no stigma should be attached to ministers and ruling elders who do not choose to become involved.

In other action, the Presbytery commended President Johnson for "the courageous and decisive statement of his position on civil rights made to the Congress and the nation March 15."

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Southern resistance to Negroes' demands for equal rights is crumbling. There may be other violence in the South, if not in Alabama then elsewhere, but the back of the resistance has been broken.

A good example is in Congress where 10 or 12 years ago Southern Democrats almost to a man would have mounted their own massive resistance to the kind of voting bill President Johnson proposed this week.

Now there is speculation whether the Southern senators will even try to use a filibuster, their infallible device of bygone years, to block Johnson's bill.

This measure, to protect Negroes from racial discrimination when they want to vote, is the most far-reaching legislation of its kind ever offered by a president, in this case a Southerner.

The only way to stop a filibuster, if it begins, is for two-thirds of the senators present to vote to end it. In the past it was almost impossible to get two-thirds willing to do this.

Now an Associated Press cross-section survey indicates the Senate leadership could round up more than two-thirds needed to curtail debate if a filibuster starts.

Johnson has the support of Senate Democrats and Republicans from outside the South to such an extent that the Republican Senate Leader, Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, has predicted no extended filibuster.

Southern resistance began to dwindle in 1957 when Johnson, then Senate majority leader, finally got approval of the first civil rights bill passed in this century after Southerners, although fighting it, rejected an organized filibuster.

Two more civil rights bills have been approved since then. The last one, passed last year, brought a filibuster lasting weeks but in the end it couldn't stop the legislation.

Johnson has thrown the full power of his office behind the Negroes' demands for equal treatment at the polls. But support for the Negro has gone far beyond the White House. Negroes are no longer alone in their fight in the South.

In 1955, when they began a boycott of segregated buses in Montgomery, Ala., there was no invasion of Northern whites to help them.

There was a vast difference this time after Alabama State Police — acting under orders of Gov. George C. Wallace to use all "necessary force" — teamed up with a sheriff's posse to inflict a bloody beating on Negro demonstrators.

They were setting out on a 50-mile march from Selma to Montgomery to protest denial of their voting rights when the troopers and sheriff's men turned them back with clubs and tear gas.

Whites, old and young, flocked to Selma to share in the demonstrations that followed the beatings of March 7.

And Wednesday a Southern-born federal judge, Frank E. Johnson Jr., ordered Wallace and the Alabama police not to interfere with the demonstrators when they begin their march all over again.

He did more than prohibit interference. He said the "wrongs" which the Negroes are protesting were "enormous," and he condemned the police action of March 7.

On top of all this mass demonstrations in Northern cities around the country not only put pressure on the President to act but on the authorities of Alabama, and indirectly elsewhere, to give Negroes full privileges of their citizenship.

All this white Northern support and presidential backing on a scale like this was unseen, and probably undreamed of, back in those days of 1955 at the start of the Montgomery boycott which set in motion all that has followed.

BERKELEY, Calif. — So you want a Permissive Father? Dr. Clark Kerr, the president of all nine campuses of the great decentralized University of California, is about as good a permissive parent as anyone could want. As one of his more friendly critics puts it, he is the "sort of man who is willing to hear his son out, willing to slap the boy down if he gets too far out, but an understanding parent when it comes to knowing that a 'generational' war exists."

So what happens to this best of Permissive Fathers? A 22-year-old non-student who affects conventional beatnik dress or non-dress (Beatle-browed non-haircut, shoeless and sockless feet even when slopping on city pavements) waves a placard proclaiming a four-letter obscenity in front of the Berkeley campus Student Union, and the roof caves in. Disgusted that an undergraduate free speech movement could degenerate, after months of effort at patient understanding, into a filthy speech movement (a handful of genuine students joined the beatnik in the obscenity parade). Dr. Kerr offered his resignation as Permissive Father of 70,000 University of California students.

main university gate.

This created a supposedly legalized area for political solicitation. But suddenly, after pickets had been recruited at the Bancroft Way strip for demonstrations outside the Republic- an convention at the Cow Palace, it was discovered that use of the area in front of the university gate was revocable.

Nobody at first seemed to know what portion of the land in question belonged to the city of Berkeley and what belonged to the university itself, though it was later ascertained that markers existed. It was, so to speak, a Berlin corridor situation all over again.

So the whole history of the Berkeley "chaos" goes back to an initial imprecision about "rights". Dr. Kerr the good Permissive Father who insists on "due process" for his students before he will permit any of them to be fired, has been victimized by the fact that his own "children" haven't known quite what they are permitted to push against.

The moral would seem to be that students both need and want the "law" just as much as any segment of society needs and wants it. The law must be stated clearly, not left to the winds of chance and un- deliberated change. And youthful followers of old Henry David Thoreau, who willingly went to jail rather than pay taxes to support the Mexican War, must be prepared to suffer penalties if they break the law.

Dr. Kerr, the good Permissive Father, is now being denounced by Mario Savio's Free Speech Movement for being "two faced". Considering what Dr. Kerr has done to protect Mario Savio, this is a supreme irony. But it is what happens when a generation that is paradoxically seeking "involvement" in protest against a world of uninvolved parents discovers that the Permissive Father can't be quite as uninvolved as all that. Dr. Kerr, finally reaching for involvement in a clarified law. The action is late, but better late than never.

The custom of wearing golf knickerbockers may be in for a comeback, according to a men's wear observer. If this means the end of those bony-knee, shaggy-limb revealing Bermuda shorts we're certainly all for it.

Wonder what the fashioneers would label a return to knickers — the Little Boy or Buster Brown Look?

Wouldn't it be something if knickers again took over our golf courses — proving that Gene Sarazen was right all along!

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

by LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Everyone in our community discussion group is very interested in health. I have been assigned to give a ten minute talk on the causes of disease. Can you give me suggestions for preparing this talk?

Mr. L. B. Idaho
Dear Mr. B.: Your group's interest in health is shared by everybody.

Good health is the corner stone of the total economy of a nation. The health of every individual has far-reaching effects on his family, his job, his community and society as a whole.

The causes of disease can be broadly classified as infection, allergy, heredity, injury, malnutrition, old age, overexposure to heat, cold, electricity and other physical elements, burns, effects from chemical agents, drugs, inflammations, tumors and the emotions.

These general classifications have, of course, many subheadings.

Discussions on health should be directed by well-informed people. Physicians, nurses, dietitians and others with specialized training in the general field of medicine can clarify many of the myths, superstitions and misunderstandings about health and disease.

If such a discussion is not supervised by someone with factual knowledge, it may tend to confuse instead of enlighten and can even increase the anxiety of people who are beset by misguided fears.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP) — Just which U.S. dollars going abroad are good for the country and which are causing trouble? A wide difference of opinion is developing, both in the Congress and in the business and banking community.

The administration is asking U.S. banks to limit loans to foreigners and U.S. corporations to curtail investments in other lands — but just certain kinds of investments and not in all lands.

The administration says this may cut down the excess outflow of dollars which over the last seven years has caused a drain on U.S. gold reserves and caused some nations, notably France, to question the role of the dollar as ranking with gold in the monetary reserves of other countries.

Critics of the plan for voluntary cutting down of private overseas investments by Americans charge that this would push the United States into economic isolation.

And the widening split in the thinking on how best to bolster the dollar and keep more of them at home comes out in the open with the filing this week of the annual report of the Joint House-Senate Economic Committee.

Democrats on the group want to save the dollar by the program the administration has launched, but also by cutting the number of U.S. troops in Europe, especially in France.

The Republicans say private investment abroad, over the long run, returns more dollars than are sent out. Such investments make the American economy strong, they contend, and aren't the real cause of the excess flow of dollars overseas. They think government spending is.

They also contend that the better way to stop excess dollar outflows, such as in the final months of 1964, would be to raise interest rates here. This would narrow the gap between the yield from money invested in this country and the return on dollars invested at the higher interest rates obtaining in almost all other lands.

Looking Back in Pickaway County

FIVE YEARS AGO

A pro wrestling program was slated at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds Coliseum.

Blinding snow at 7 p. m. yesterday caused part of a heavily loaded tractor-trailer assembly to roll over on Route 23 about three miles south of here.

Final plans were made for the upcoming campaign to promote the $1,475,500 school bond issue at the May 3 primary at a meeting held in Circleville High School.

TEN YEARS AGO

Working together for better school health was the theme of a health conference to be held at Jackson Twp. School.

The Drum and Bugle Corps Women's Auxiliary was planning a Spring Dance, to be held in the Memorial Hall.

Charles Brown, 19, Route 2, was named Pickaway County 4-H Club assistant in the county extension office.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

The long awaited "break" in the weather arrived and farmers throughout Pickaway County started early spring plowing and seeding peas.

All of a sudden,
it stops looking funny.

If you think a Volkswagen Station Wagon is just a funny-looking car maybe you never saw one fit in a space that regular wagons have to pass by and when you realize how much stuff you could put inside that thing like the Christmas someone drove one to their mother's with six people and the crib, the high chair, bicycles, luggage, presents...room?

you couldn't ask for more and an air-cooled engine that starts in the morning 1-2-3 and when you stop at a gas station, $3 fills it up and you don't have to worry about gas for maybe 3 weeks and take kids for instance "Are we in the Volkswagen bus?" and they say "clap their hands and if it's a glorious day, you can slide the sunroof back and let a little of the glory in and all of a sudden, it stops looking funny.

Guest Slated For Annual Style Show

JERRY RATOR

Jerry Rator, a Columbus TV personality, will be a special guest at the Ashville Women's Civic Club's annual style show scheduled 8 p. m. Tuesday at Teays Valley High School.

Jeanne Cummins will also appear with Rator during the half time program.

"World's Flair of Fashion" is the theme of the show and models will include members of the club and Teays Valley High School girls.

Commentators will be Bernie Turner, representing Sharff's Women's Apparel, and Dottie Carpenter, describing styles shown from The Deb Shop. Background music will be presented by Everett Merhly at the organ.

Door prizes will be awarded and a dessert course will be served in the dining room.

Mrs. Vaughn Herdman is chairman of the ways and means committee and Mrs. Don Flierl is chairman of the hospitality committee.

Tickets may be purchased from members or at the door.

Current Events Are Discussed

Mrs. Robert Bower, Route 1, Kingston, was hostess when members of Berger Hospital Guild No. 12 met in her home Monday evening.

Mrs. William Defenbaugh, program chairman, conducted a discussion on current events.

Mrs. Sterling Poking, chairman, presided for the business session. Mrs. Eldon DeLong, treasurer, reported that the guild's annual gift, a check for the purchase of miscellaneous instruments, had been sent to the general guild treasurer.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting by the hostess.

Mrs. Defenbaugh will be the hostess for the next meeting.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Explanation for Limp

DEAR ABBY: I am 22 and male, and my problem is this: How can I graciously answer the questions, "Why are you limping?" and, "Why don't you dance?"

Most people are aware of my limp unless they've known me a long time. It is not very noticeable except when I am tired. Some people think I have recently hurt my leg. The reason I limp, Abby, is because I had polio, and surgery as a result of it. But I'm afraid if I were to tell people this it would create an awkward silence. An off-hand remark doesn't go over very well now that I'm older. Can you tell me how to answer these two questions so there will be no further discussion of a subject I find rather unpleasant?

ANONYMOUS
DEAR ANONYMOUS: The best reply to both questions is the simple truth: "I've had surgery as a result of polio." If questions persist after that, answer them graciously enough so the inquirer will not be embarrassed, and briefly enough so he will realize that you don't wish to dwell on the subject.

DEAR ABBY: We have a handsome, intelligent boss who has one fault. He opens everybody's mail. It doesn't matter if it's marked PERSONAL, or not. He opens it anyway. Even bills! And I know he reads everything because he's made remarks about bills being overdue and other information he could have only picked up from personal letters. I once tried to tell him in a nice way that he shouldn't open other people's mail, but he said he opens all the letters from the back and he doesn't pay any attention to whom it is addressed. I can't get used to this. I wait for the mail and try to get mine first, but some days he beats me to it. He owns this business and he's the boss, and I have to eat. So what do I do?

"J" IN PORTLAND
DEAR "J": Don't tell me that's the only job in Portland! It is obvious that your handsome intelligent boss has nose trouble. If you want the privacy to which every employee is entitled, clear out of there and find another job. But if you remain, knowing your privacy is being violated, don't complain.

DEAR ABBY: Have you seen these men who rack back and forth on the two back legs of their chairs while dining or playing bridge? This is a problem I don't know how to cope with. It not only puts a great strain on my chairs, but it also makes large dents in my vinyl tile floor.

Can a hostess ask her guests please to keep all four legs of the chairs on the floor? This may seem like a small problem, but it has me whipped. I shudder when we must entertain some friends who do this. Sign me, "ANNOYED," because I am.

DEAR ANNOYED: A hostess may certainly ask her guests to quit rocking back and forth on the hind legs of her chairs. You mention the possible damage to your chairs and floors. But you overlooked a most serious danger - their falling backwards and cracking their noggins.

DEAR ABBY: Your advice is usually pretty good, but you sure missed on your answer to the woman who complained because her husband "lost all interest" in her. You advised her to get him to a doctor. Doctor, my eye! She should take herself to a lawyer. I was married to a man who, after only nine years of marriage, lost all interest in me, too. I checked into his outside activities and found out that he had girl friends all over town. No wonder he lost interest in me. He was always dead tired. He only came home to rest up.

"THREW HIM OUT"

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dean, Route 4, have returned from a two-week vacation in Honolulu, Hawaii. They visited their son, Eugene, and daughter-in-law, Linda. Dean is stationed with the U. S. Army at Ft. Shafter.

Monday Meet Slated

DeMolay Mothers will meet 8 p. m. Monday in the Masonic Temple.

WINS DIVORCE — Actress Eleanor Parker was awarded an uncontested divorce in Santa Monica, Calif., from her artist husband, Paul Clemens, whom, she said, was "cold and withdrawn" and humiliated her in front of their friends.

Easter Hats

Displayed

At GC Meet

The Roundtown Garden Club met recently in the home of Mrs. Marvin Maxson, Jefferson Addition. Mrs. William Blaney was assisting hostess.

A highlight of the meeting was the modeling and judging of Easter hats which the group made. Winners were Mrs. Blaney, first; Mrs. Merle Swank, second; Debra Maxson, third.

During the business session, Mrs. Swank, president, appointed a committee with Mrs. Blaney as chairman to plan a garden display for the County Fair this fall. Plans were made to have a luncheon meeting at Pickaway Arms April 6.

An invitation was received for members to attend a Spring Regional Meeting at the Columbus Country Club April 20. It was also announced that the Pickaway County Garden Club has invited Mrs. Frances Jones Poetker, Cincinnati, to give a lecture and flower arranging demonstration at the 4-H and Grange Building 2 p. m. April 21.

The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Roger Hobble, Jefferson Addition.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Donna Mowery Honored at Bridal Shower

Miss Donna Mowery was honored at a bridal shower given Sunday by Mrs. James Rasor, of Grove City.

Games were played and prizes won by the honored guest, Mrs. George Mowery and Mrs. William Cain.

Others present included Mrs. Elliott Wells, Mrs. Hazel Mowery, Mrs. Harold Pontius, Miss Opal Poling, Mrs. Lawrence Reid and daughter, Brenda, Mrs. Oscar Reynolds, Miss Ruth Reynolds, Mrs. Orville Rasor, Mrs. Dan Eitel and daughter, Sheila, Miss Becky Rasor, Miss Karen Rasor and Miss Lou Ann Rasor.

Gifts were sent by Mrs. James Reynolds and Mrs. Edwin Kunz.

When you make a small-size cake, use a small-size bowl; then if the ingredients have to be beaten, they'll come up high enough to get good action from the beater.

Abbott Case Prosecution Is Nearing Its Finale

CINCINNATI (AP)—The prosecution was expected today to finish presenting its case that Robert Ray Abbott killed Wanda Cook in a "love nest" in a downtown hotel.

The defense will then get its chance to try and show that Abbott's fiancée shot Miss Cook in a moment of jealous rage. Abbott, 21, of Dayton, Ky., is charged with first degree murder.

Common Pleas Judge Louis J. Schneider recessed court early Wednesday after Melvin Rueger, Hamilton County prosecutor, said his next two witnesses were not present. One of these was said to be Dr. Samuel Gerber, the Cuyahoga County coroner.

Dr. Gerber's office prepared a medical examiner's report after Miss Cook's body was found last Oct. 21 jammed into a trunk at the Cleveland Railroad Station. She had been slain six days earlier.

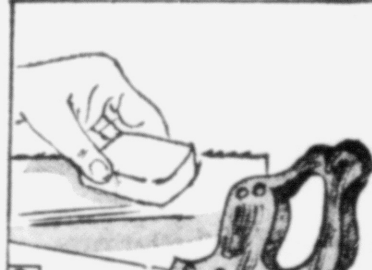

Rueger's request came after Judge Schneider had excused Mrs. Rita Putthoff Russell, of Covington, Ky., who testified that Abbott beat her with a brick when she resisted his advances in 1960 when they were both 16 years old.

The defense claims the slaying was done by Alice Ewing, 22, Ft. Thomas, Ky., Abbott's "consummately jealous" fiancée. Miss Ewing has denied on the witness stand she shot Miss Cook.

Mrs. Russell testified she went to Coney Island Amusement Park in the summer of 1960 with Abbott and another couple. She said Abbott then asked her to show him a church at Covington.

"And when we got up there, I sat down, and he tried to get fresh, trying to feel all over me; and then he took a brick and beat me in the face and the head and I don't remember anything,"

British Actor Convinces Kim Novak on Marriage

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — British actor Richard Johnson accomplished this week what many another male has tried to do and failed: he married Kim Novak.

The Chicago-born blonde has been linked romantically with famed figures since the time she was tapped by the late Harry Cohn to be Rita Hayworth's successor as Columbia Pictures' love goddess. None of the swains could get Kim to agree to matrimony until Monday, when she wed Johnson in a grassy glade near Aspen, Colo.

It was a civil ceremony, but the actor said afterward that he and Kim may marry again in the Roman Catholic Church. She is a Catholic, he is not.

Johnson said he and his bride would spend the rest of the week in the ski country. "Then we'll drive to Los Angeles so she can show me some of America." They may have a reception for their Hollywood friends, then go to Kim's home near Carmel, Calif., before visiting her parents in Chicago. He met the Novaks at Christmas.

Where will home be?

"I have a house in London, and Kim has two in California," he said. "I imagine we'll go

Woman Imprisoned For Using Car to Kill Boyfriend

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A woman accused of manslaughter in the death of her boyfriend by knocking him over a freeway bridge to the roadway below with her automobile, was sentenced to prison Wednesday.

Mrs. Violet Louise Beck, 39, had entered a plea of guilty to a manslaughter charge after being indicted originally on a first-degree murder charge in the death of Merle McCarty, 40.

Common Pleas Judge Joseph M. Harter sentenced her to 1-20 years in Marysville Reformatory. County Prosecutor C. Howard Johnson agreed to the lesser charge, contending that it was a crime of passion and that he could not ask for a greater verdict during a long drawn-out jury trial.

African Nations Split into Rival Camps

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — The Congo problem which has plagued this continent since 1960 now has cleaved Africa's independent nations into rival camps.

Premier Moise Tshombe, key figure in the controversy, emerged from the Organization of African Unity's meeting of foreign ministers in Nairobi with a diplomatic victory.

Although his request for an all-African peacekeeping force to replace his white mercenaries failed to get the 18 votes needed for approval, it won the backing of 15 nations. And Tshombe, denounced by many African leaders as an imperialist stooge, came out of the meeting unscathed by any resolution critical of his policies.

It was the organization which suffered defeat. The OAU, born two years ago with pledges of pan-African solidarity, now appears paralyzed by disunity.

The conference, which spent five bitter days last week discussing the Congo, failed to reach any policy decision, passing the buck to Africa's heads of state meeting in Accra, Ghana, Sept. 1.

In the pro-Tshombe camp were most of the French-speaking states plus Nigeria, Liberia and Sierra Leone.

In the other, Ghana, Tanzania, Algeria, the United Arab Republic and Uganda opposed Tshombe.

Resolutions condemning South Africa for its policy of apartheid and Portugal for hanging on to its African colonies went through with barely a hitch.

The split came as soon as delegates got down to the Congo question.

Tshombe checked in at a newly built hotel taken over exclusively for delegates, and Tanzania's foreign minister, Oscar Kambona, promptly checked out. The two men later argued violently on the conference floor, with Tshombe at one stage demanding of Chairman Joseph Murumbi, foreign minister of Kenya, that he "silence this demagogue."

Sudan proposed that Congo rebel leader Christophe Gbenye be given a hearing at the conference. Tshombe opposed this idea and it failed to get the necessary majority approval.

In a bid to hide the split, Murumbi imposed an information blackout. Delegates continued to leak information to the press, however, and the blackout failed to conceal the increasingly bitter tenor of the debate.

Tanzania and Ghana tried to drum up support for a move to withdraw recognition of Tshombe's government if it refused to abide by the conference decisions. They failed.

At the opening session, Kenya's President Jomo Kenyatta had urged delegates to find a "speedy and peaceful solution" to the Congo problem.

But for Tshombe, as he told a news conference later, the OAU meeting showed the Congo had "Sure and solid friends."

Mrs. John Sabine — YU 3-5731

The Ashville-Harrison. PTA will meet in the school auditorium today. Music will be furnished by the First Grades under the direction of Mrs. Janet Houck. Art and Science displays will also be presented. Room visitation will be held following the meeting, with coffee being served in the rooms.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Mahaffey were at Russellville, Ohio on Sunday and Monday having been called there by the death of Mrs. Mahaffey's sister, Mrs. William D. Snyder also attended the funeral of her aunt on Monday.

Mrs. Ray Badger is a patient in Mercy Hospital, Columbus.

Mr. and Mrs. Siebert Duval have returned home after visiting New Orleans and other points of interest in the South.

Mr. Leroy "Hap" Smith has entered Riverside Hospital for observation. He is in Room 708. The Smith family were former residents of the Duval Community and now reside in Jackson Twp.

Miss Alice Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arne Thompson, returned home Saturday after undergoing surgery in University Hospital, Columbus.

A film "Invitation to Ohio" was shown to the members at the March 9 Kiwanis Club meeting. The film, shown through the courtesy of Ohio Bell Telephone Company, told of the healthful industrial climate of the state. The story was well received by those present.

Students from the art department of Teays Valley High School under the direction of Mrs. Betty Midkiff will present the program for the next meeting. These programs presented by the various departments of the high school have proved quite interesting.

Four members of the Hilltop Kiwanis of Columbus attended the meeting. Planning to attend Charter Night at Hillard Thursday night are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hudson, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Beers, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hosler and Mr. and Mrs. Warren Bastian.

The Ashville Girl Scout Neighborhood Association met in the Methodist Church Monday night. Neighborhood Chairman, Mrs. John Sabine presided during the meeting.

The secretary's and treasurer's reports were given by Mrs. James Irwin. Camp folders were distributed and it was announced that Day Camp for Ashville Scouts would be held this year at Blacklick Woods, July 28 through August 5. Transportation will be provided by bus for those attending.

The Girl Scouts have been quite active this week in observing the 53 birthday of the organization. The Troops attended Church in uniform Sunday March 7 on Girl Scout Sunday.

The Scouts provided flowers for seven of the local Churches and bulletins for those Churches wishing to use them. The flowers were later given to shut-ins of the community. Four of the Troops had displays during the week in the downtown store windows.

Brownie Troop No. 1384 had a display in the Post Office. Leaders of this troop are Mrs. Robert Glick and Mrs. W. C. Hyde. Brownie Troop No. 1389 under the leadership of Mrs. Joy Kuhn and Mrs. Mildred Duckworth displayed their crafts in the window of Featheringham's Furniture Store; Junior Troops No. 730 and No. 238 had a very fine display in the window of Hoover's Meat Market. The main point of this display was a large three-tiered cake depicting the 53 anniversary of Scouting. Leaders of the Troops are Mrs. James Irwin and Mrs. Glen Parsons, Troop No. 730 and Mrs. Gene Tosca and Mrs. Jerry Trego, Troop No. 238. The Neighborhood association would like to thank the merchants for the use of their windows for the week.

Saturday, March 20, all the Scouts in Ashville will attend the annual Girl Scout Party at Veterans Memorial in Columbus.

Palmetto Lodge No. 513 Knights of Pythias will meet in the K of P Hall March 24. The Esquire Rank will be conferred on candidates at that time. Refreshments will be served.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio auto license tag "No. 1" has been awarded to Mrs. Von M. Kehl of Lower Salem.

Mrs. Kehl was honored for submitting the winning slogan and essay in the third annual traffic safety slogan-essay contest.

Her slogan, "Alert Today—Alive Tomorrow" was chosen from almost 2,500 entries by a panel of judges consisting of the Ohio Committee for Highway Safety and newspaper representatives from this city.

Receiving a special license tag, "23-S" for her parents was 16-year-old Linda Staton, of Toledo.

Linda, a student at Whitney Vocational High School, submitted the winning slogan in the youth's competition—"Safety Isn't Magic—it's Logic."

Voskhod 2 is the Soviet Union's second group-manned flight. It came five days before the United States is scheduled to launch its first in the Gemini program.

The American program also has scheduled an experimental "walk around in thinness," but for a later flight.

The space ship blasted off a little more than five months after the first multiple-manned Voskhod (Sunrise) was launched with three men aboard.

Tass said according to preliminary data, Voskhod 2 is orbiting the earth every 90.9 minutes with a minimum distance from the earth of 108 miles and a maximum of 307 miles. It said the orbit angle to the equator is about 65 degrees, and "close to the prescribed orbit."

"Two-way radio communications are constantly maintained with the space ship," Tass said.

Belyayev and Leonov were reported feeling well and are carrying out their assigned research duties.

"The reports by the ship's commander show that the crew withstood satisfactorily the orbiting and the transition to weightlessness," Tass said.

"All the equipment on board the space ship is functioning normally."

There was no immediate indication how long Voskhod 2 would remain in orbit. Voskhod 1's journey last Oct. 12 was billed as a "long flight." But the ship was brought down after 16 orbits—far below the record 81 orbits scored by Valerian By-kovsky in June 1963.

Before Voskhod 2 went aloft Soviet sources had suggested that two space ships might be put into orbit for link-up experiments that are essential in developing ships big enough to reach the planets.

The second Soviet group space flight appeared timed to take the propaganda wind out of the first American attempt to orbit more than one astronaut in a single capsule.

That attempt, the first shot in the American Gemini program, is scheduled for March 23, next Tuesday.

Air Force Maj. Virgil I. Grisom and Navy Comdr. John W. Young are scheduled to make a three-orbit flight together on that date.

Voskhod 2 is the eighth manned space flight announced by the Soviets, although observers abroad have speculated that there may have been unsuccessful flights that were not announced.

The United States has launched two suborbital flights and four single-man orbital ones ranging from three to 22 loops around the earth.

Tass said Belyayev, the oldest man the Soviets have put into orbit, has been flying since he was 18. He entered pilot's school during World War II and in 1945 was a fighter pilot in the Far East. He is married and has two daughters.

Leonov entered aviation school in 1953. Tass reported, and is now studying at the Zhukovsky Air Force Engineering Academy. He has made a study of spacecraft design. He is also married and has one daughter.

Bookie Device Is Target of Senate Bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Manufacturers of devices used by bookies to bypass automatic telephone equipment could face up to seven years imprisonment under measures now halfway through the legislature.

The Senate passed and sent to the house Wednesday two bills by Sens. Charles H. Jones, R-Hamilton, and Edmund A. Sargus, D-Belmont, setting penalties for manufacturers of cheating devices as well as their users.

First offenders could be fined $300 and sentenced to 90 days, or both, and second offenders would receive a prison sentence of one to seven years.

Jones said such devices have been manufactured in other states, including New Jersey and Florida. The devices are very attractive to the gambling fraternity because calls cannot be traced," Jones said. Both bills passed by lopsided margins.

Among seven new bills introduced in the Senate was one by Sens. Max H. Dennis, R-Clinton, and Sargus, which would prohibit what they called monopolistic practices by the dairy industry. Their measure, placing the industry under federal antitrust laws, is similar to one defeated by the legislature in 1963.

Across the statehouse, the House passed three bills but rejected a fourth that would have set a $50 fine for motorists leaving their keys in the ignition.

House members gave unanimous approval to the so-called "bee bill." The measure which now goes to the Senate is designed to aid Ohio's honey and beeswax industry by providing for registration of beekeepers and closer inspection for disease.

In other House action, approval was given to measures calling for state employee paydays every other Friday instead of twice monthly with no raises in salary, and to eliminate a requirement for chauffeurs to wear badges on their caps or lapels while driving.

New bills offered in the House included two by Rep. Roy Huffer Jr., D-Pickaway, to require common pleas and municipal court judges to retire at age 70, and one by Rep. Roy J. Gilliland, R-Jackson, to repeal the statute requiring notice to the tax commission in inheritance cases.

Rep. Gordon M. Scherer, R-Hamilton, proposed lowering the age for juvenile court jurisdiction from 18 to 17.

'The Big Giant,' 17 Admits Subway Slaying

NEW YORK (AP)—A husky Negro youth, known on the streets as "The Big Giant," surrendered to police and has been charged with the subway slaying of a white youth.

The subject of a 15-state homicide alarm, Christopher Lynch, 17, 6-foot-4 and weighs 210 pounds, accompanied an older brother to a Harlem police station and gave up.

He was taken to "the Brooklyn precinct where the murder occurred. Police said the slaying on a subway train Friday night was witnessed by at least 10 passengers, not one of whom has contacted police.

There was no indication that Lynch had ever known Andrew A. Mormile, 17, the victim of a knife repeatedly plunged through his skull. Police described the attack as "without reason or cause."

Lynch's older sister, Patricia Harris of Brooklyn, told reporters this morning that her brother had been filled with white hatred in the year or so of his association with a black nationalist group. She said the group was not the Black Muslims, but did not name the group.

"They teach him to, you know, hate the white man," Mrs. Harris said. "All this that happened is the organization's fault. He's too young to think for himself. He's easily misled."

"He was just a regular boy before he got mixed up with this group."

A companion of Lynch, arrested Tuesday as a material witness, has named Lynch as the slayer.

Mormile was said by police to have been dozing on a seat in the front car of a Manhattan-bound subway when two Negro youths accosted three Negro girls.

Police first thought that Mormile had tried to assist the girls, but officers said Tuesday that the Negro youths had demanded cigarettes from him, leading to a dispute.

The victim's grieving mother, Clara, 38, was quoted earlier as dismissing any racial motive for the slaying.

"Andrew grew up with Negro children and played with Negro children all his life," Mrs. Mormile said. "You can't tar everyone with the same brush."

Police said Lynch was calm but uncommunicative when he accompanied his brother into the Harlem station house.

"I'm Mr. Roger E. Lynch," a desk sergeant quoted the brother, 28, as saying. "I want to surrender my brother, Christopher. You're looking for him."

After being booked in Brooklyn, Lynch was handcuffed and taken away. During a brief pause before news photographers, he stood impassively, a slight twitch visible occasionally in his right cheek.

His tearful mother, Irene, followed him out, saying "I still don't believe it."

Detectives renewed an appeal for the three Negro girls and 10 other passengers who saw the slaying to report to police. The other passengers had fled the train before police arrived to find Mormile's body.

A campaign to make the subways safer for passengers apparently provided a break in the case.

An anonymous caller used a special police telephone line to transmit the information that led homicide detectives to Terry Toomer, 18, a Negro.

Police said Toomer accompanied Lynch on the subway train and told of witnessing the fatal attack on Mormile.

Mormile, a senior at Brooklyn High School of Auto Trades had spent the evening with his girl friend, Marialiane Feis, 15, at her home in Queens. He had given her a $25 friendship ring. He was riding the subway back to the four-room, $45-a-month tenement flat he shared with his parents, two younger sisters and a brother.

"It was such a senseless thing to kill him," said Mormile's father, Albert, 44. "He was a gen-

Private Airport Tax Relief Bill Offered

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Privately owned airports offering public use of runways without charge would be afforded some tax relief under a bill now pending in the Ohio Legislature.

Reps. Barry Levey, R-Butler, and Howard A. Knight, R-Sandusky, offered the proposal

Wednesday. It would exempt those portions of runways and taxiways being used by the public from property taxes.

"It is essential that Ohio's privately owned airports can continue to operate, and tax relief will aid their development and/or improvement," the sponsors said in a joint statement.

Doctor, Merchant Chief Draw Top U.S. Salaries

WASHINGTON (AP) If you want to earn top money be a doctor, lawyer or merchant chief.

That's the essence of a Labor Department study on how the nation's approximately 46 million male workers make their living.

The study of 321 occupations showed a median salary range — at the midway point in the high to low listing — of $14,561 a year for physicians at the top of the list to $550 for newsboys at the bottom.

Business managers in banking and finance were second highest at $12,757 and lawyers were high up on the list at $10,587.

In general, the study shows the higher the educational attainment, the higher the salary. But there were some notable exceptions.

Locomotive engineers, for instance, were 38th on the list of highest paid occupations with a median education level of 9.8 years and median pay of $7,586. The locomotive engineers, the highest paid craftsmen listed, compared favorably in salary with many professional and managerial workers with college educations.

Millwrights were the next occupational group with less than 10 years of schooling far down the list in 107th place at a salary of $5,933.

Although the study is based on 1960 census figures, the author of the report, Max Rutzick of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, said the job rankings today are virtually unchanged, although every occupation would show higher salaries now.

The dominance of professional and managerial jobs in the higher salary scales seems to be "a natural structure" that doesn't change much, Rutzick said.

However, he wrote, some professional jobs are comparatively low paid, apparently because of a large number of women in the field who are frequently paid less. "Thus lowering the pay scales for the entire occupation."

These include religious workers, with a median education of 16.3 years but a median salary of only $3,033 for 285th place on the list.

Population Zooming

NEW DELHI (AP)—India's population of 480 million is expected to swell to 625 million by 1975 unless the booming birth rate is checked, the government says. It has launched a birth control program to fight the pressing problem of too many people and too much poverty impeding economic progress.

Former Resident Elected Executive by Holding Co.

Richard O. Mader, a former Circleville resident, has been elected vice president of Nationwide Corporation, a holding company based in Columbus.

Announcement of his election to the newly-created post was made by George H. Dunlap, board chairman and president of the corporation. Dunlap also announced that Mader would continue as assistant treasurer, a post he has held for three years.

Mader is a 1938 graduate of Circleville High School and was graduated from Ohio State University in 1942 with a BS degree in accounting. He became a certified public accountant in 1952. Mader saw service in World War II with the U. S. Army and was discharged with the rank of captain in 1946.

Mader joined the Nationwide organization in 1958. Prior to his association with Nationwide, he served 12 years with accounting and financial firms in Columbus.

He is secretary of the Circleville Oil Company and is assistant treasurer of the Ohio Society of Certified Public Accountants.

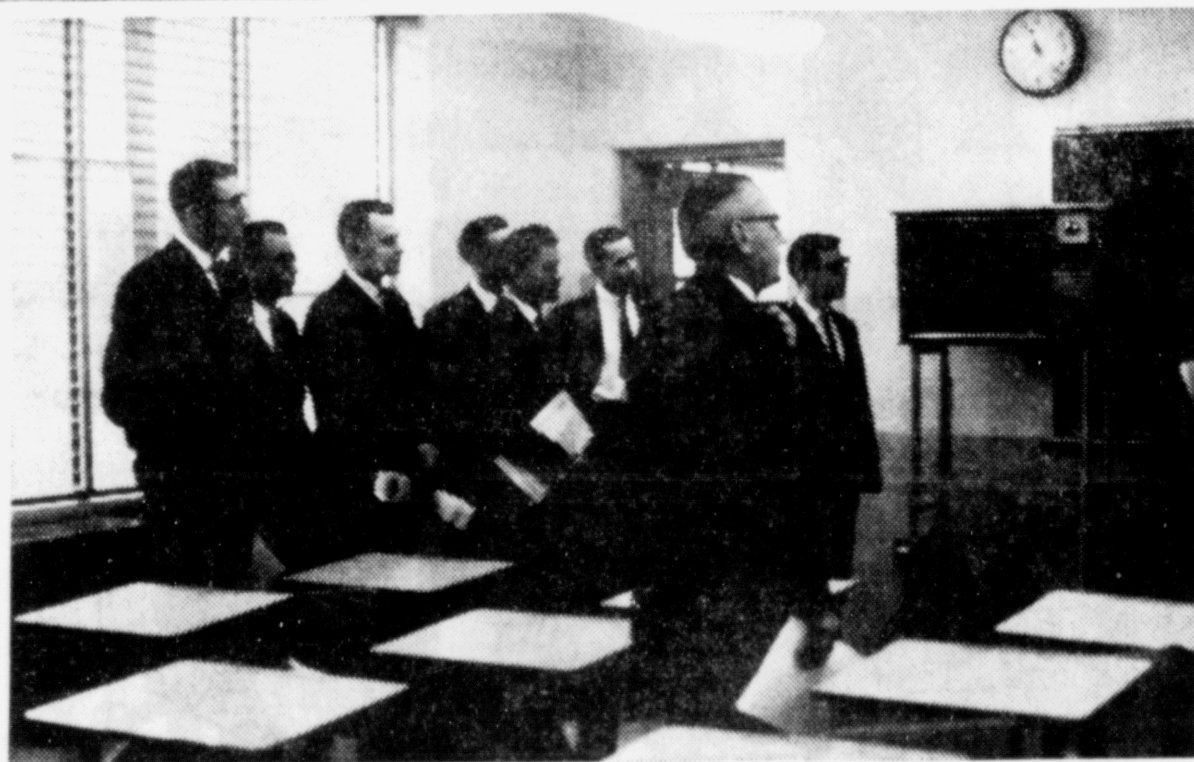

He is married to the former Betty L. Nickerson of Circleville

TEAYS VALLEY — This group of local business and industry representatives receive an explanation of educational television during the Teays Valley segment of yesterday's Education-Business-Industry Day. Thirty-two persons were on hand for the day-long program. The session ended at the high school following a tour of facilities and luncheon. The visitors then were divided into groups that attended classes during the afternoon at various elementary schools in the Teays Valley District.

Bus Bill Foes Said Plagued by 'Ghosts'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Opponents of compulsory school bus legislation have established "unreal ghosts" in an effort to divert attention from reality, the Ohio House Education Committee has been told.

Testifying Wednesday night at another round of hearings on the controversial legislation was Ferd Niehaus of Cincinnati, representative of the Ohio Council of Catholic Men.

Niehaus said he has "listened to adversaries of this bill who claim that the proponents will soon be asking the legislature to build classrooms and pay compensation to priests and rabbis.

"Then they spend the balance of their argument discussing the unconstitutionality of public support for rabbis and priests," Niehaus said, adding:

"By establishing unreal ghosts, they hope to divert attention from reality." He went on to tell committee members that the measure being considered is to provide school bus trans-

Ohio Senate's 'Iron Duke' Gets Wreath

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Senate's "Iron Duke" has a "funeral wreath" on his desk.

57 Clerics Lead Dayton Rights March

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—An estimated 500 Negroes and whites—wearing black armbands—paraded in downtown Dayton Wednesday night seeking action on three fronts:

They supported passage of the measure introduced by President Johnson to assure Negro voting rights in the South; they urged passage of "fair housing" legislation now before the Ohio General Assembly, and they called for speeded-up action in Dayton to end alleged discrimination in housing.

The marchers, led by 57 ministers of many faiths, sang as they marched four abreast three blocks from Library Park to Cit Hall, where a Dayton City Commission meeting was in progress.

Later, the Rev. Harold J. Les Vesconte, pastor of the First Unitarian Church, who organized the march, called upon the commission for faster action on local fair housing legislation.

and vows it will stay there.

The "Iron Duke" is Sen. William H. Deddens, Cincinnati Republican and dean of the upper chamber, who never has been accused of dodging a fight. That's how he got the name.

Deddens found the wreath of brightly colored artificial flowers when he came to work Wednesday but said nothing until Sen. Charles J. Carney, Youngstown Democrat, requested permission "to give a eulogy."

Carney chided Deddens, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, for postponing hearings on a bill by a freshman Democrat to make a unique appropriation of almost $1 million for the Democratic Party.

"The Iron Duke is rusted out. His bluff has been called by a freshman senator," Carney called to Republican senators across the aisle. Some didn't think it was very funny.

But the "Duke" was in top form and his remarks quickly restored the playful St. Patrick's Day mood.

"I do not believe I ever heard of anyone being so thoughtful as to send flowers before a person's demise and I consider this a fine tribute," he said.

NIT Semifinals Due Tonight In New York

NEW YORK (AP) — There will be Indian war whoops and the beat of drums as the emotional-charged St. John's University Redmen battle Army and top-seeded Villanova encounters NYU in the semifinals of the National Invitation basketball tournament tonight.

The Redmen, 18-8, have vowed to win the NIT as a present for the Big Indian, Coach Joe Lapchick who is retiring at the end of the season at the age of 65. And despite a two-point 58-56 defeat at West Point during the regular season the Redmen are favored to whip the Cadets, 20-8, this time.

Villanova, 22-4 and eighth ranked in the final Associated Press poll of the season, similarly is favored to down the NYU Violets, 16-8.

A sellout crowd of more than 18,000, including cheering sections from the four schools, is expected to jam Madison Square Garden and contribute to what probably will be the noisiest doubleheader of the season.

"They're so emotional right now, I don't think there is any stopping them," said Ken Norton, referring to St. John's. Norton is coach of the Manhattan Jaspers who lost to Villanova 73-71 in the quarter-finals Monday.

Even Tate Locke, the Army coach, declared of the Redmen "they have been playing the best ball in their emotional state." He smiled and added, "We expect to win just the same." Lapchick made no predictions except that the game will be hard fought.

The winners will meet for the championship Saturday afternoon at 3 p.m. EST after the losers play for third place at 1 p.m.

Scioto Coaches Pick All-Star Unit

The Scioto Valley Conference basketball coaches last night named an 11-man All-Conference cage team.

Logan Elm's Keith Merrin was picked as "Coach of the Year" while Jeff Lutz the Braves' senior All - District player was picked to captain the team. Eight of the choices, including Lutz, were unanimous picks.

From Westfall, senior center Steve Neff was named by all the mentors to the dream team. Other unanimous selections were Mike Everhart and Bill Jones from Paint Valley; Vandle Ward and Gerald McGuire from Piketon; and Dale Haynes and Lionel Wiseup of Unio.

Rounding out the unit were Rick Shaw of Logan Elm, Neil Coleman of Westfall and Ronnie Brokaw of Laurelville.

WITH Everhart, a 6-4 center. Neff and Ward, both 6-2 cagers, the coaches' team has good height for a conference with all Class A schools participating.

The scoring punch is provided by Everhart who averaged 22 points per game, along with 17 rebounds, during the season. Although a center, Everhart is also an exceptionally fine outside shot.

Dale Haynes, a sophomore and the youngest member of the team, averaged 16 points a game for the Unio. Shermans. Piketon's Vandle Ward had an average of 14 points per game and 12 rebounds. Jones, Wiseup, Shaw and Lutz averaged over 12 markers per outing for their respective teams.

Neil Coleman had a 10-point average for the well balanced Westfall quintet while Neff averaged eight markers.

Laurelville's Ronnie Brokaw hit the nets for nine tallies per game.

The coaches also named an honorable mention list that included nine players. They are:

TOM HAMMAN and Danny Bowen of Westfall; Russ Merrin and Darryl Reichelderfer of Logan Elm; Mike Thompson and Ronnie Neff of Unio; Steve Hettinger of Laurelville; Jim Stanley of Paint Valley and Ray Pritchett of Piketon.

Merrin, who coached the Braves to a perfect 5-0 record to win the SVC crown, was selected for the second time as coach of the year.

He succeeds Oral Crabtree of Paint Valley who was named last year.

The Braves compiled a 15-7 overall record this season. They were 3-1 in tournament play.

Westfall, competing in the SVC for the first time, compiled an overall mark of eight wins and seven losses. The Mustangs finished in second place.

In other action taken last night, the conference track meet was scheduled for May 13 at Frankfort. Preliminary heats will start at 4 p. m.

Baseball coaches completed scheduling conference games. Laurelville will field no team, it was announced by officials of the school, although the Wildcats will compete in track.

Goof-Laden Effort Nets Redleg Defeat

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Cincinnati's relief aces could not do a thing while the New York Mets broke the Reds' winning streak at three with a 7-4 defeat, but Manager Dick Sisler took the defeat in stride.

"Just one of those days," Sisler said after Wednesday's loss. "We were able to do very little right, especially after the third inning."

Up to that time, Sammy Ellis had shut the Mets out on two hits, but nine New Yorkers went to the plate in the fourth inning. When it was all over, the Mets led, 4-0, and Ellis left the game for Billy McCool.

Cool Billy lasted three innings, during which the Mets added two more runs on four singles.

All the Reds' runs came in the eighth on five hits yielded by 19-year - old rookie Bob Schmidt. The biggest of these were doubles by first baseman Tony Perez and left fielder Charley James.

"Sure like the way the big fellow is swinging the bat," Sisler said later of James.

The Reds entertain St. Louis today at Lopez Field.

K of C Awards Tourney Trophies

Trophies were presented to winners of a ping pong tournament this week at the lecturer's meeting of Fr. John S. Hannan Council, Knights of Columbus.

The Rev. Fr. John Marquis won the Class A championship and was named grand champion of the council. Jerome Koester took second place in the top division.

Class B title winner was Ralph May, while Gerald Bender came in second in this division. Michael Trubisky placed first and Paul Porter took second honors in the Class C section. Doubles champions for the council are Jerome Koester and Thomas Shea.

Dallas Elkhott Jr., chairman of arrangements for the tourney, was presented with the Knight of the Month award during the business session of the council.

Grand Knight Stanley Stevens announced that the annual Knight of the Year awards banquet is scheduled for April 4 at 5:30 p. m. in the American Legion home.

Football's Grand Old Man, Alonzo Stagg, Dies at 102

NEW YORK (AP) — "Here's hoping the Grand Old Man of football, like the Grand Old Flag, waves on forever."

Amos Alonzo Stagg was the subject. The words by Grantland Rice were written in 1943 when, at 81, the beloved strategist was named Coach of the Year. Stagg died Wednesday at 102.

Certainly as long as football is played, Stagg will be remembered.

No figure in gridiron history made so many contributions which are basic today to the game with which Stagg grew up.

Every quarterback keep, reverse play, lateral, quick kick and unbalanced line is a tribute to the ministry-bent son of an immigrant cobbler who became, instead, America's most revered football coach.

From 1888 — when he recovered a fumbled punt to help Yale beat Princeton — through his twilight years, Stagg pioneered progress and helped reshape the game he felt offered boys the opportunity to become men.

Try to envision the T-formation without the quarterback standing to receive the ball from the center, without the lateral pass and pitchout, without men in motion and flankers, without the delayed buck and fullback draw.

The scope of Stagg's work begins to come into focus.

Under different rules, Stagg planted the germ from which Pop Warner developed his single and double wingback attacks. It was called the ends-back formation. The year: 1890. To pave the way for Warner, Stagg also came up with the reverse, the direct pass from center to a deep back and the unbalanced line.

Stagg was born Aug. 16, 1862 in West Orange, N.J., seven years before Princeton and Rutgers started American collegiate football.

As the fifth of eight children in a poor family, Stagg learned hard work, frugality and the simple diet at an early age. He never abandoned them.

Stagg's urge to study for the ministry was encouraged and after he waited on tables to prep at Exeter he was admitted to Yale.

Stagg did some religious work through the Yale YMCA and when he became a graduate student it was that body which encouraged him to accept Captain Pa Corbin's invitation to turn out for football in 1888.

He had seen his first college game in 1883.

Stagg became right end for the storied Eli juggernaut of '88 which outscored the opposition 698 to nothing. The following season he was picked on the first All-America team ever selected. And he weighed only 160 pounds.

By the spring of 1890 Stagg was convinced he did not have the ability, which he needed for the ministry, to talk easily before a group.

So he quit the Yale divinity school and entered the new YMCA training school at Springfield as one of four faculty members. There Stagg set his course by agreeing to coach the football team in the first year of Springfield College.

Logan Kegler 8th In $35,000 Test

DETROIT (AP)—Ed Thomas of Logan, Ohio, was in eighth place Wednesday among 160 professional bowlers at the half-way mark of the Professional Bowlers Association's $35,000-000 Continental Open.

Thomas was in second place, just two pins from the top after Wednesday's opening round, but he fell to eighth, with a total of 2,535 pins, after the night session.

Another Ohioan, Al Thompson of Cleveland, was one notch above Thomas, in seventh place with a 2,546.

Ron Winger of Van Nuys, Calif., led with 2,593.

It has often been said that the only logical substitute for a new Cadillac is one that has seen previous service. Whatever you plan to invest in your next car, above all consider Cadillac.

If you are like most people, you hope someday to own a new Cadillac motor car. For Cadillac's continuing greatness in design and engineering has made it one of the world's most desirable and sought-after possessions. But if a new Cadillac is not presently feasible, you should consider the pleasure and satisfaction that would be yours with a late model, previously-owned Cadillac. Your dealer currently offers an unusually wide selection of fine used Cadillacs at a cost in line with that of many new cars of far less stature and quality. These fine Cadillacs are all in superb condition, and many offer features not yet available on other makes. And from a standpoint of investment, remember that a Cadillac traditionally returns more of its cost at resale than any other car at or near its price. So visit your authorized Cadillac dealer, and let him show you a Cadillac—new or used—that will fit your budget. Your visit will be the wisest motoring move you have ever made. Why not make it this week?

Former Legion Executive Will Present Main Address

Merle F. Brady of Van Wert, past department commander and past national executive committeeman, will be the main speaker during Saturday's anniversary observance at the Hall - Adkins American Legion Post here.

Legionnaires across the nation this week are celebrating the Legion's 46th birthday. Culminating activities here will be a dinner and dance Saturday at the local post.

A portion of the dinner-dance session will be the presentation of awards, according to Hall - Adkins commander Emil Stonerock. James Shea, local Veterans Service officer, will serve as master of ceremonies.

Guest speaker Brady has completed four years' service as national executive committeeman of the Ohio American Legion when he attended the national Legion convention at Dallas, Texas, in September of 1964. His retirement from the office also ended eight consecutive years on the Ohio Legion's executive committee.

A VETERAN of 43 months' service with the Air Force during World War II, he became active in the Van Wert Legion post immediately after his return to civilian life. He served in various offices before becoming commander in 1952, then was a district commander before stepping onto the "ladder" leading to state leadership in 1957-1958. He also sparked the drive which resulted in construction of the Van Wert Legion home.

Brady is a past president of the Van Wert Lions Club and Retail Merchants Assn., was active in the former Van Wert Peony Festivals, and in 1949 was the Van Wert Jaycees' choice for "Outstanding Young Man of the Year".

He and Mrs. Brady own and operate a children's and women's specialty shop.

The second firm to be incorporated is listed as O'Dell and Curry Inc. Incorporators are Clyde O'Dell Jr., Jesse W. Curry and Martha M. O'Dell. Huffer and Huffer also handled the legal work for this incorporation.

Gypsy Woman Held For Fraud of Couple

CLEVELAND (AP) — Police issued a warrant Wednesday charging larceny by trick against a gypsy woman who disappeared with nearly $12,000 of the life savings of an elderly East Side couple.

The warrant was signed by Mrs. Anna Gorkos, 69, the victim. Police said she hesitated to sign the warrant because she believed she had been put under a spell by the gypsy and would die if she went to the police.

The Westfall - Jackson Parent Teacher Boosters held their meeting Monday at the school.

The fourth grade conducted the devotions. Stephanie Neff led the group in the Lord's Prayer and the Pledge to the Flag. Karen Fausnaugh read the scripture.

The fifth grade won the parent teacher count.

Poster contest winners were announced. They were: Dolores Karshner, William Blaney, and Kathy Welsh.

The Rev. Morgan of the A. N. ville and Robtown (Scioto Chapel) EUB Church will show pictures of the Holy Land at the April meeting. The third grade will have the devotions.

The program was a talent contest among the students. Judges for the event were James Shea, Mrs. Marvina Dudleson, and Clark Hunsicker.

The following students participated. Janet Pettibone, tap dance; Myron Seymour, vocal solo; Susan Pettibone, tap dance; Jay Welsh, saxophone and vocal solo; Janelle Thompson, Baton twirling; Pauline Scarberry, dance; Claire Hansen, piano solo; Sharon Ward, vocal solo; Sally Minor and Dolores Karshner, pantomime; Debbie Schleich, Brenda Reid, Linda Keller, Janne Reynolds, vocal quartette accompanied by Nancy Keller; John Eitel, James Pontious, Mike Fuller, drums and guitars; Lois Atwood and Dick Woodward, guitar and vocal duet.

District Lions Meet Scheduled

More than 500 men from Central and Eastern Ohio will gather in Columbus Saturday for the District Convention of Lions International.

Local delegates are expected to attend the two-day meeting to be held at the Southern Hotel. Members of 51 clubs in the area will participate in the program.

Featured speaker at the meeting will be Aubrey D. Green, York, Ala., immediate past president of Lions International.

A district governor, senior deputy governor and junior deputy governor will be elected during the business sessions on Sunday.

Cincinnati Council Takes Rights Actions

CINCINNATI (AP) — City Council took action Wednesday on two matters dealing with civil rights and race relations:

It adopted a resolution condemning the brutal treatment of civil rights workers in Alabama and pledging council's support of full equality for all citizens of Cincinnati. And it replaced the old Mayor's Friendly Relations Committee with a new Cincinnati Human Relations Commission.

Electric Company Will Pay County $438,537 in Taxes

The Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co. will pay a total of $438,537 in taxes to Pickaway County on a yearly basis, according to Eldred G. Parsons, division manager for the Circleville area.

Seventy-nine per cent of the amount, $345,213, enriches Pickaway's budget allowed for state, county, township and municipal purposes. Columbus and Southern Ohio's Pickway Generating Station is located in Harrison Twp.

Parsons said combined electric Co. real estate taxes in Ohio which go to support schools represent the largest tax portion paid by the utilities. More than $30 million dollars annually is poured into the county's coffers by Columbus and Southern Ohio and seven other investor-owned companies.

This amount is more than the tax total spent in one year on public education in a city the size of Columbus.

Included in tax funds set aside for school purposes are retirement of bonds used for new construction and repairs. General expenses include salaries, maintenance and a miscellaneous array of continuing costs necessary to keep pace with the growing enrollment in Pickaway County schools.

New roads and bridges, street maintenance, health and welfare, and police and firemen's pensions are some of the items included in the sum allowed for use in Pickaway County.

The company's total tax bill for 1964 including property, federal, state and local taxes amounted to $16,627,718, equivalent to 23.39 cents of every dollar of revenue.

NEW INSULITE FASTILE CEILING SYSTEM

Now... installing an Insulite Ceiling is easy as "one-two-three"!

Insulite's exclusive Fastile Ceiling System lets you put up glamorous, new-looking ceilings... give any room a fresh, exciting "new look"... quickly, easily, and with "professional-looking" results.

Easy-to-handle metal furring and edge strips nail quickly into ceiling joists. No complicated leveling—no special tools required. Practically fool-proof.

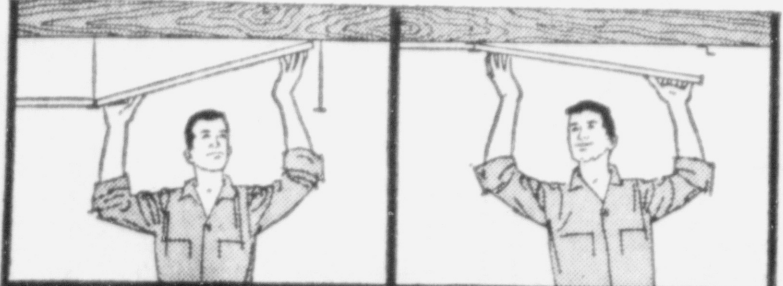

Grooved edge of tileboard slips readily into flange of metal Z strip, and locks into adjoining tileboard. No stapling, gluing or tacking is required!

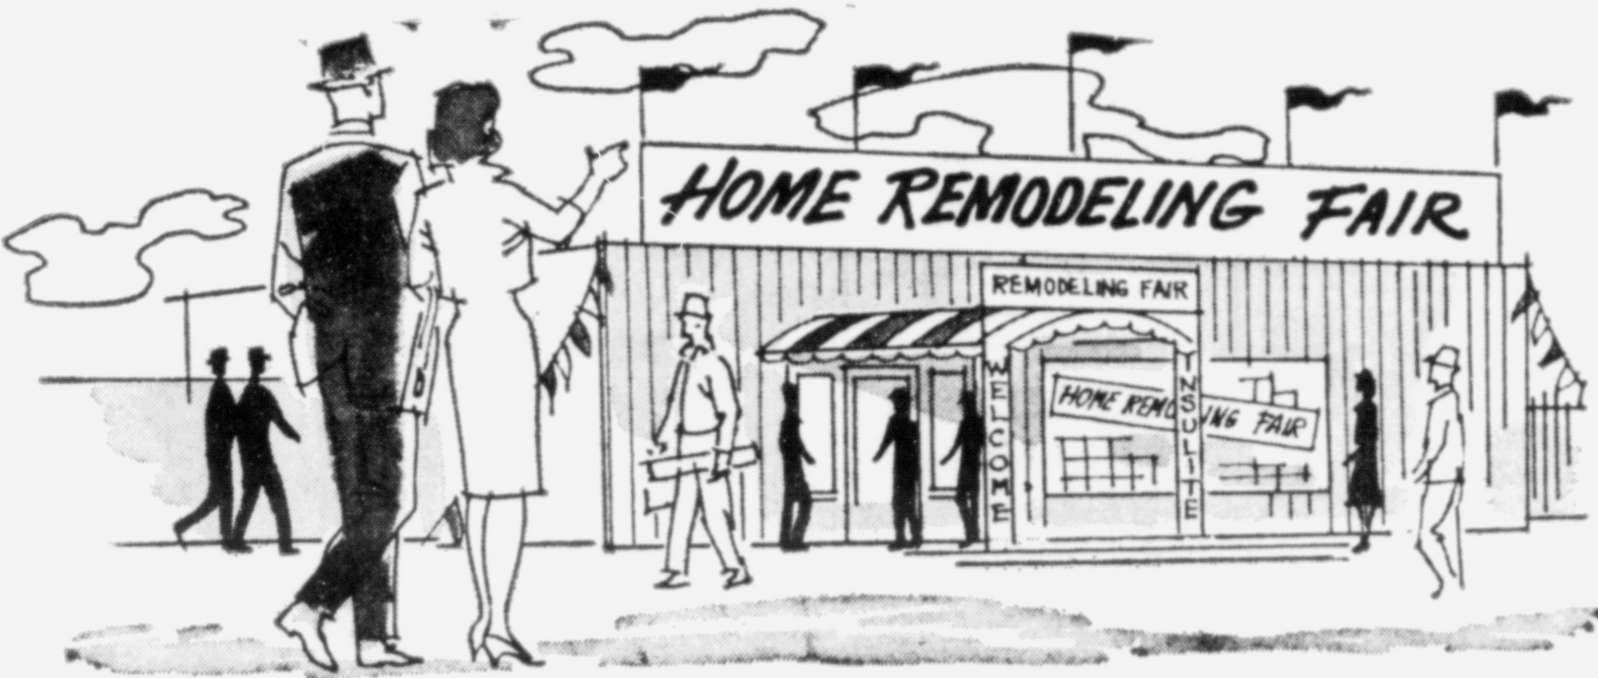

Plastic cove molding is inserted into spring clips of metal edge strips around perimeter of room. Trimming out a room takes only a few minutes.

...and the job's done! With the Fastile Ceiling System and any of Insulite's thirteen beautiful new decorative-acoustical tileboards, you'll have a fresh, exciting ceiling that quiets noise... adds new beauty to your home.

INSULITE SLIDE-LOCK GRID SYSTEM SAVES AT LEAST 3" OF HEADROOM

Most grid systems need at least 3" of waste space above the grid for insertion of drop in ceiling panels. New Insulite Slide-Lock grid system is applied directly to joists—no waste space. Insulite panels insert from below.
